Description

I was fortunate to be able to work with a bunch of brilliant people in different areas during my time at Custimy and also later when they acquired Make Influence.

For context, Custimy is a Customer-data platform built for e-commerce businesses to get a better understanding of their customers down to a single customer's view, whereas we built some tools allowing e-commerce brands to impact the CLV of their customers.

Custimy acquired Make Influence, a commission-based influencer marketing platform around June 2023. I was originally hired as a BDR, to do cold calling primarily. But I realized after just 3 weeks, that working remotely for a pre-product market fit startup doing cold calling with little to no prior sales training, was not for me and I was fortunate, that we found a solution for me to go into the 'Enablement' department instead during my internship.

Enablement was Custimy's version of a Customer Success department, where I touched base with almost everything ranging from being RevOps, Marketing, Customer Success to Product Development and the Tech department.
